Louisville, Kentucky

Dear Mrs. Radford:

A little story is being written about the Southeastern Center at Jeffersonville, and it is our belief that you were the first person to enroll here.

Our records show that you were first enrolled the 1st semester, 1941 and find no record prior to that time. Please advise us if this is correct. I believe you will be interested to know that the Center now has almost 1200 students enrolled. We should be pleased to hear from you in regard to this matter. A self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

Very truly yours,

Floyd I. McMurray
Director

Mr. Floyd I. Murray, Director
Indiana University Extension

Dear Sir:

One afternoon, when the noise of traffic had not subsided and night's silence was not over Jeffersonville, I enrolled for two courses for the first semester of 1941. It seems but yesterday that you and your assistant very graciously gave me information concerning enrollment. All that I can say in memory of the center's growth is — 'from an acorn a big oak has grown', and as another poet has said: —

" 'Tis stress and strain with moth or man
That free the folded wings!"

Very truly yours,
(Mrs.) Lydia Jeannetta Radford
